

AD FOR CHILDREN

Many Needs of Orphans' Home
Reported by Dr. Harding.

Club Women Should Take a Hand There She Says.

"TOO MUCH PAWNEE ROCK!"

Topeka Doctor Declares Women
Use Money Foolishly.

"Pay More Attention to Orphans Less to Patriotism."

Dr. Eva Harding came home from her visit to the state orphan's home with a whole bundle of highly inflammable sentiments about the "misguided efforts of Kansas club women." She saw the kiddies who are state wards suffering in a dormitory at the home and thought of the lack of interest which Kansas club women showed in the situation. Right away she resolved to refuse to pass the contribution box when the federation of clubs was to endow a home for sick kittens or build a new drinking fountain at Pawnee Rock.

There was a regular serial story of complaints which Doctor Harding brought home from Atchison. A report from the home stated that Doctor Harding had placed her O. K. on the home. Possibly the report came from some person who once met Doctor Harding at a pink tea party. The sentiments which the doctor brought home from Atchison didn't fit the advance reports in any particular spot.

Lack of Facilities.
It was the lack of hospital facilities at the state orphan's home which made Doctor Harding weep. Big, rich, independent Kansas herds her sick orphans in a dormitory on the top floor of a first class building when they are sick. That was the condition Doctor Harding found. Of course it wasn't exactly the condition of the treatment or any individual. The legislature just wanted to carry out a policy of economy and wouldn't provide money for hospital facilities for the home.

The hospital matter was close to Doctor Harding's heart today. But she didn't blame the home—exactly. She took a big, free handed swing at Kansas club women.

"You ought to see the conditions I saw yesterday. They would make you sick," declared Doctor Harding. "Helpless little children in a dormitory on the top floor of a fire trap building because the state has no hospital for them."

"But the club women of the state don't know anything about it. Of course they don't. Maybe they don't want to. I don't know. They are too busy securing markers for Pawnee Rock or monuments for John Brown park. They are putting in the remodeling silk flane to the soldiers on the Mexican border and otherwise being patriotic. Now they are getting funds for a Lincoln bust in a park."

Patriotism vs. Humanity.
"There's too much of this kind of patriotism and not enough humanity. It makes me weary."

Men will sit around the lecture table next winter and want an appropriation for Pawnee Rock or for the John Brown memorial park. They are too busy with those thoughts about those children all during the session. If the state doesn't provide facilities for the care of those little children who are sick, it's all right. But let a legislator refuse to vote for the Pawnee Rock appropriation—Oh, my! The whole federation turns loose and passes resolutions. I would just like to tell these women this would be a better state if they would pay more attention to the orphans and be less patriotic just for a little while."

Dr. Harding believes the state should arrange to place the children in private homes after they have been in the institution three months. If necessary, she declared, the state should pay for the care of these children in private homes.

"The whole plan over is silly," said the doctor. "Think of a man smoking after 300 cigarettes a day. What does he know about it? Can he look in a girl's eyes or talk for five minutes to a man and know whether the child is getting along all right? Then when you want an investigation, they send the managing board out to look into the matter. The legislature will do something about it."

AGED OFFICER IS DEAD

Reading, Pa., Aug. 8.—Gen. David McMurtre Gregg, 83 years old, the last of the Union officers holding the rank of general at the battle of Gettysburg, is dead at his home here. He was born at Huntington, Pa.

General Gregg was graduated at West Point in 1855. His 1,000 cavalrymen are credited by many historians with having saved the Union cause at Gettysburg, forcing Gen. Jeb Stuart to retire from Knowlton's camp at a critical point in the battle.

British Expert Comments on Our Navy Increase.

157 Battleships "Modest" Program Considering Wealth.

London, Aug. 8.—The naval program of the United States is a modest one in the opinion of Admiral Sir Cyprian Bridge, retired, one of England's greatest naval experts and counselors. Admiral Bridge was formerly commander-in-chief of the Austrian forces and director of naval intelligence. Since his retirement, he has served on numerous commissions inquiring into various branches of naval activity.

"I cannot regard," said Admiral Bridge, "the naval appropriation and the program agreed upon by the United States senate as more than modest consideration in connection with your resources and requirements, or when we remember that the strength of the police force should be commensurate with the resources that tempt."

"The action of your government seems timely. I have been one of those who consider the Panama canal as an even greater asset for defensive purposes than for commercial advantage and I believe that a larger naval program for your country certainly is justified by the inability to place perfect confidence in the canal's availability on account of slides now and then. I refer, of course, to the emergency of transferring quickly from one side of your continent to the other in case of attack until the problem of slides has been definitely solved, enough naval strength to meet any attack."

Makes U. S. Second Power.
"It appears that your naval experts have fully considered this point in making provision for 157 additional ships, including sixteen capital ships, in a program to be completed within three years."

"With your present strength, an addition will indeed place your power on the sea next to that of Britain."

"Notwithstanding some divergence of opinion on the subject I think that it is quite safe to say that the lessons on naval engagements in the war have justified the generally accepted division into classes of fighting craft—battleships, heavy and light cruisers, destroyers and, perhaps, submarines."

"I use the qualifying word with reference to submarines because in my opinion the submarine has not proved a sufficient fighting factor during the present war."
